JULES VERNE IS DEAD

The French King of Fiction, Whose Marvelous Stories Fascinated Millions of Readers All Over the World Amiens, France, March 25.—Jules Verne, the noted author, who had been seriously ill, died yesterday.

Day before yesterday M. Verne sustained a stroke of paralysis, affecting his right side, which has since been extending.
M. Verne continued writing until recently, when illness obliged him to suspend all literary work and his duties as a municipal counselor. His death was in the room in which he wrote his stories of marvelous voyages. He was born at Nantes 71 years ago, and began his literary career by writing comedies and filling feuilletons for Paris papers.
But his plays were not popular.

A new vein of literature was opened by Verne when he began to publish novels which exaggerated the triumphs of science into what at the time were considered impossibilities. Such books as "Around the World in Eighty Days," "A Trip to the Moon" and "Twenty Leagues Under the Sea" created much amusement, but Verne has lived to see the journey around the globe made in less than half the time he allowed, and the submarine boat a reality. Since 1870 M. Verne wrote nearly 100 volumes, mostly stories of adventurous travels, all of them showing his marvelous knowledge of the latest discoveries in the fields of science.

It is claimed that Verne's "Five Weeks in a Balloon" did much toward the development of dirigible airships.
In speaking of this work lately, which was written in 1861, M. Verne said:
"I wrote 'Five Weeks in a Balloon,' not as a story about ballooning, but as a story about Africa. I always was greatly interested in geography and travel and wanted to give a romantic description of Africa."

A GAMBLING HELL AFLOAT

New Yorkers are so fond of gambling that an ocean-going steamer has been fitted up as a pool room and will make daily excursions to sea during the racing season. Reports from the tracks will be received by wireless telegraphy, and the limits of the betting will be only the height of the blue sky and the depth of the sea. The boat will have on board various sorts of gambling games—roulette, red-and-black, faro, etc.—and a restaurant and bar. District Attorney Jerome may be able to close the most notorious of the gambling places, but the seasoned gamblers will find a way to indulge their penchant for wooing the fickle goddess.

COUGHED ALL NIGHT

But Quickly Cured by Chamberlain's Cough Remedy

"A few mornings ago Mr. J. G. Smitherman, a good citizen of this place, came to the store for a cough medicine," says Dr. C. N. Parnell of Maples-ville, Ala. "He was so hoarse that he could hardly talk and said he had coughed all the night before. I sold him a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and told him that if it did not relieve him he might bring the bottle back and get his money. I saw him the next morning carrying the bottle to the store where he works, and he told me it did him more good than any medicine he ever used." For sale by the Postoffice Drugstore.

CHRISTENED WITH KEROSENE

Apt Retort of the Governor of Kansas to a Standard Oil Attorney

Topeka, Kan., March 25.—The battleship Kansas will probably be christened by breaking a bottle of Kansas crude oil over its prow in the place of a bottle of champagne, as is the usual custom. This is the idea of Governor Hoch, as expressed by him in a conversation with A. D. Eddy, general counsel for the Standard Oil Company.
"The last time I saw you, Governor," remarked Mr. Eddy, "you expected to make a trip East this spring, to attend the launching of your battleship."
"That has been postponed until July," said Governor Hoch.

"I would like to attend that launching and see you break the bottle of champagne over the Kansas," remarked E. J. Evans, attorney for the Standard Oil Company in Kansas, who was present.

Governor Hoch's reply was quick.
"The Kansas will not be christened with champagne. The Kansas will be christened with a bottle of oil—not Standard oil or independent oil, but just Kansas oil—Kansas crude oil."

A LESSON TO LEARN

FROM THE LITTLE JAP

The little Jap he pugs away.

Night after night, day after day;
He doesn't stop to rest or sleep.

But, though the roads are rough and steep

And foe-begit, still day by day
The little Jap he pugs away.

The little Jap he doesn't talk.

Nor diagram with pen or chalk.

He doesn't gloat o'er fallen foe Until that foe is lying low;

He doesn't tell the world his plans.
But marshals silently his clans.

The little Jap he doesn't wait.

And sit around and wait at fate; Instead, he tackles with a vim Whatever's in the way of him.

He's busy early busy late—
The little Jap he doesn't wait.

The little Jap thus teaches you—And teaches other people, too—Not to wait, murmur or complain.
But just to work, come sun or rain.

Less theorizing, more of DO The little Jap man teaches you.

Dr. E. W. Hall, St. Louis, Mo.—Dear Sir: Having tried various remedies without satisfactory results, I was persuaded to give your "Texas Wonder" a trial. I have used one bottle, and although my case is one of long standing that baffled the skill of the best physician, yet it yielded at once to the "Texas Wonder," which I heartily recommend to all suffering from kidney and bladder troubles. Yours truly, W. H. Bruton,
Pastor Baptist church, Ripley, Tenn.

neys and Bladder in both men and

TO MAKE ANOTHER STAND

Linevitch and His Legions Will Try to Hold the Line of the Sungari River Against the Victorious Japanese

St. Petersburg, March 25.—The situation in Manchuria is once more threatening. It is probable that news of another battle will be received in a few days. The czar, it is reported, has directed Linevitch to make a stand at Sungari river and fight to the last. As the Japanese are known to be close on the heels of the Russians, this probably means that the two armies will soon be joined in battle.

The Sungari river is about 100 miles south of Harbin. If the Russians do not make a stand before reaching Harbin, a successful turning movement might break the railway and cut them off from their source of supplies. Another defeat, on the Sungari, will mean a loss to Russia not only of Manchuria, but all the Pacific provinces of Siberia.

CURED HEMORRAGES

OF THE LUNGS

"Several years since my lungs were so badly affected that I had many hem-orrhages," writes A. M. Ake of Wood, Ind. "I took treatment with several physicians without any benefit. I then started to take Foley's Honey and Tar and my lungs are now as sound as a bullet. I recommend it in advanced stages of lung trouble." Foley's Honey and Tar stops the cough and heals the lungs, and prevents serious results from a cold. Refuse substitutes. Sold by the Postoffice Drugstore.

APPALLING DEPRAVITY

New York, March 25.—At the institution of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children conditions of appalling depravity existing among school children on the lower East Side are being investigated by the grand jury. One man indicted numbers nine girls as his victims. Conviction in his case means a sentence of a hundred years in jail.

AN OFFICE FOR ROSSER

Ex-Confederate General Will Get Unit-

Washington, March 25.—General Rosser, who was recently appointed postmaster at Charlottesville, Va., it is understood, will be appointed United States marshal for the western district of Virginia at the expiration of the term of S. Brown Allen. Rosser was the youngest brigadier general in the Confederate army.

THE ORIGINAL

Foley & Co., Chicago, originated Honey and Tar as a throat and lung remedy, and on account of the great merit and popularity of Foley's Honey and Tar many imitations are offered ey and Tar and refuse any substitute offered, as no other preparation will

AN INSURANCE ASSOCIATION

OUT OF BUSINESS

Tallahassee, March 25.—State Treasurer W. V. Knott has ordered the license, or certificate of authority granted to the Union Mutual Aid Association of America, doing business in Jacksonville and Tampa, revoked. This association was doing a sick and funeral benefit insurance business. The assets of the concern were insufficient under the law to allow a continuance of the business.

ARE YOU ENGAGED?

Engaged people should remember that, after marriage, many quarrels can be avoided by keeping their digestion in good condition with Electric Bitters. S. A. Brown of Bennettsville, S. C., says: "For years my wife suffered intensely from dyspepsia, complicated with a torpid liver until she lost her strength and vigor, and became a mere wreck of her former self. Then she tried Electric Bitters, which helped her at once, and finally made her entirely well. She is now strong and healthy." The Anti-Monopoly Drugstore sells and guarantees them, at 50c a bottle.
